Change You Can Feel - With Stories That Back It Up

At Life With Support Housing Association, we don't believe in performance theatre. We don't cook the numbers or sell fairytales. We focus on real people, measurable progress, and doing the work - even when no one's watching.

We're early in our housing journey, but not new to supporting people in crisis. From providing emotional stability during legal battles to keeping someone out of prison and out of the bottle - we've already made an impact. And it's only just beginning.

What Impact Looks Like to Us

- A man avoiding a return to custody because he had someone in his corner
- An individual staying sober through one of the most stressful chapters of his life
- A referral partner knowing we don't drop people for one mistake
- A resident learning how to pay rent on time, answer the phone, and rebuild trust
- A house where people sleep through the night and wake up with purpose

Case Snapshot: Paul

From Crisis to Control - With Support, Not Judgment

Paul came to us as a man on the brink:

- Facing possible prison time
- Isolated, overwhelmed, and stuck in a destructive cycle

- At serious risk of relapsing into alcohol use due to stress and instability

We acted as a Litigation Friend, helping him manage his legal case with dignity and clarity. More importantly, we supported him emotionally and practically — helping him stay present, sober, and mentally intact throughout the ordeal.

Paul didn't just avoid prison. He avoided going under.

This is what impact looks like when you're not ticking boxes - you're actually showing up.

Our Housing Numbers

We're currently building a national network of supported properties across Norfolk, Bristol, South Gloucestershire and Greater Manchester.

💬 We'll publish our full housing outcomes in our 2025 Impact Report, including:

- Number of residents supported
- Referral-to-move-in timelines
- Tenancy sustainment rates
- Outcomes after move-on
- Partner feedback

We're not rushing to impress - we're laying real foundations.

In the Meantime

If you're looking for evidence of our approach, speak to the people we've supported. Talk to the professionals we've partnered with. Our reputation speaks louder than metrics ever could.
